

My job at Mission Control was the Remote team. I worked on the computer by weighing asteroids. Right before the field trip, we weighed rocks. This helped because I had to weigh asteroids

there. My favorite thing at Space Station was using the rubber gloves. It was hard putting the gloves on because they would always get stuck. My least favorite part was putting the carbon tank back together. When my partner was at mission he recorded my data.

Nathaniel Farabee